

Hungry Bill's Ranch: Trail Maintenance

Excerpts from Valerie's Field Notebook

The Crew at Hungry Bill's Ranch.

Date: July 18, 2002

Weather: Cloudy and breezy (absolutely wonderful)!

Mood: Ready to Work!

Objective: Clear and define trail. Block confusing paths so that people would not go off original trail.

Description of Work: We used hedge clippers and loppers to cut down brush and we also moved rocks.

Feelings: I liked this project because we were able to gaze at a beautiful piece of scenery while we worked, and at the end of the day we could tell where the trail was at.

Interesting Facts: I learned that the ranch was used to grow grapes and apples and also to raise some cattle. I also learned that there was a creek throughout Johnson Canyon and at Hungry Bill's Ranch.

Defining the trail.
